January, 2007 News from CareNow

Happy New Year! I am a big believer in the power of renewal, and for me January is filled with hope for the year to come. Whether it's the promise of a slightly trimmer physique, a more organized home office, or carving out more time for fun, the New Year offers the opportunity to dream. Of course our dreams here at CareNow stretch beyond the comforts and privileges of Southern California to those in Sub-Saharan Africa struggling with life's many challenges. Our fundraising efforts this year will center on providing funding for the clinic at Lily of the Valley and in providing assistance to new beneficiaries as well. Stay tuned for information on our fundraising events for 2007!

We wish you a year of good health, prosperity, and fulfilled dreams.

Volunteers Needed

We are looking for volunteers to help us with two specific fundraising campaigns throughout the year. Qualified

Great Things to Know

The Fowler Museum at UCLA will exhibit an extraordinary piece of art from January 10 through March 11, 2007. The work is called "The Keiskamma Altarpiece: Transcending AIDS in South Africa" and was created by 130 women from South Africa's Eastern Cape province. The piece represents and celebrates a community's determination to prevail in the face of AIDS.
